Current Projects & Experience

MANHAN GROUP LLC

Junior Member & Marketing Strategist

01.2022 - ONGOING

Manhan Group provides land-use management tools for county government and transportation infrastructure organizations. My duties at Manhan include researching, preparing and writing proposals, and providing input from my futurist background towards developing practical and robust scenarios for our clients. Originally brought on to help with marketing, I have also contributed significantly to Manhan's rebranding, including, but not limited to designing their new logo and document templates, and creating a new website (with a searchable project database), all with a cohesive identity throughout these projects

UNESCO

Responsible Futures Team Member & Author

07.2021 - ONGOING

The Responsible Futures project aims to promote better futures literacy in policy studies. Our contribution focuses on the many benefits and insights of indigenous research methodology in futures work, and introduces an experimental tool for futurists to implement in their practice. As our team is based primarily in Australia, this project has relied heavily upon collaborative project management tools.

To be published early 2023.

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS ON LOVE AND SEX WITH ROBOTS

Comittee Member

09.2021 - ONGOING

My role as a committee member includes securing conference speakers, evaluating academic article submissions for publication, and coordinating with our international group of organizers and sponsors. In addition, I maintain and moderate our online community for sex tech, AI and robotics professionals throughout the year.

Objective

I am currently seeking part-time employment to complement my current professional engagements. However, I would consider a full-time position for the right employer, with priority given to meaningful work, rather than compensation. I bring with me a Master's Degree in Futures Studies, multiple design application proficiencies, and high personal standards for the quality and efficiency of my work.
